TEXAS ASSOCIATION OF ASSESSING OFFICERS

July 24, 2006

To Whom it May Concern:

TAAO hired Cody Davis to train me on Adobe InDesign software so I can fulfill my responsibilities as editor and publication designer of our trade magazine. In the process, Cody supervised the enhancement of the overall look of the magazine with a redesign of key sections. The result has been a much more graphically interesting publication that garners compliments from our readers on a regular basis.

Cody began fully training me on our February/March 2006 issue, supervising the entire process. From this training I was able to complete some of the April/May 2006 issue on my own before calling him in to coach me through the remaining design and help me prepare it for the press. I was able to complete the June/July issue without assistance from Cody. In a relatively short time, he brought me from knowing virtually nothing about graphics software to being able to produce a 32-page, 4-color magazine on my own.

Without reservation, I can recommend Cody Davis as an accomplished graphic designer for your publications, marketing pieces, etc, and as a trainer for anyone wanting to learn graphics software programs.

Sincerely,

Lisa Grinstead
Professional Development Manager
